	Notes	Flock No.	January	February	March	April	May	June	July	August	September	October	November	December	January
Breeding Activities	Into these cells you can add all breeding and related activities such as the dates when bucks are placed with does, when they come out, when the does are due to start kidding, when kids are due to be weaned etc. If you have more than one flock you can use a row for each flock.
Nutritional Activities	All nutritional and supplementation task dates such as flush feeding, creep feed, late lactation supplementation and the like can be inserted into these rows. If you have more than one flock you can use a row for each flock.
Vaccinations	Add the dates for the various essential vaccinations that each flock needs to receive annually into these rows. Co-ordinate dates with your breeding activities to eliminate problems such as abortions. If you have more than one flock you can use a row for each flock.
Parasite Treatments	Into these cells you can add the due dates for all internal and external parasite treatments. If you have more than one flock you can use a row for each flock.
